

Inspiration:

At the start of designing the background for my portfolio, I began by looking for inspiration. I realized that this portfolio should connect with who I am and reflect my personality, so I thought about combining my interest in history and royal dynasties with a modern, clean design. I've always admired the "fleur-de-lis" symbol, a classic emblem used frequently in medieval heraldry. I came across a background on Adobe Stock featuring a fleur-de-lis pattern, which I tried using, but I noticed it didn't quite fit my vision and had a watermark. So, I decided to design my own background on Canva, to make it feel more personal and fitting with my concept. I believe it's essential in this industry to stand out and bring a unique touch as a specialist.

Figma link: <https://www.figma.com/design/lgie99nuzsdeHpZMMsHmFg/Portfolio-Semester-2?node-id=0-1&t=JZxwsShuhfDgknEA-1>

Pinterest inspiration: <https://pl.pinterest.com/pin/939633909736444374/>

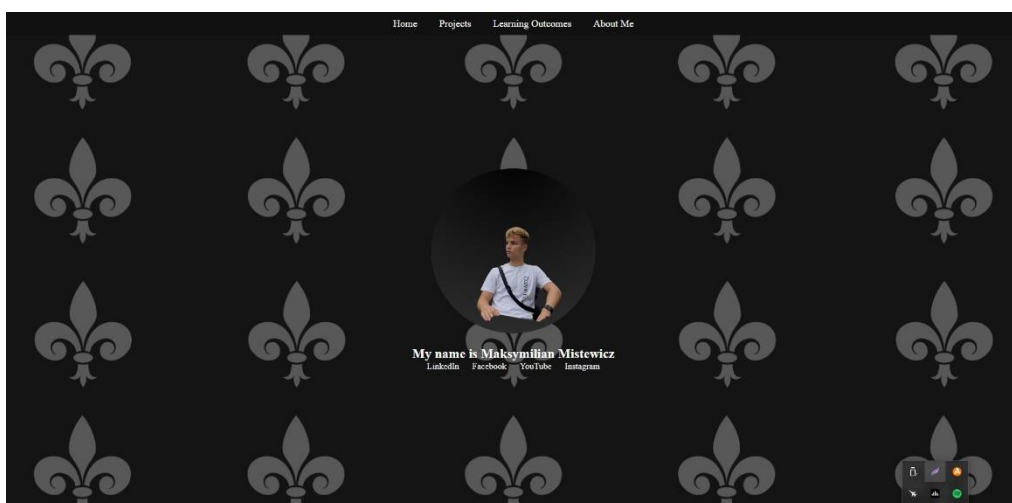

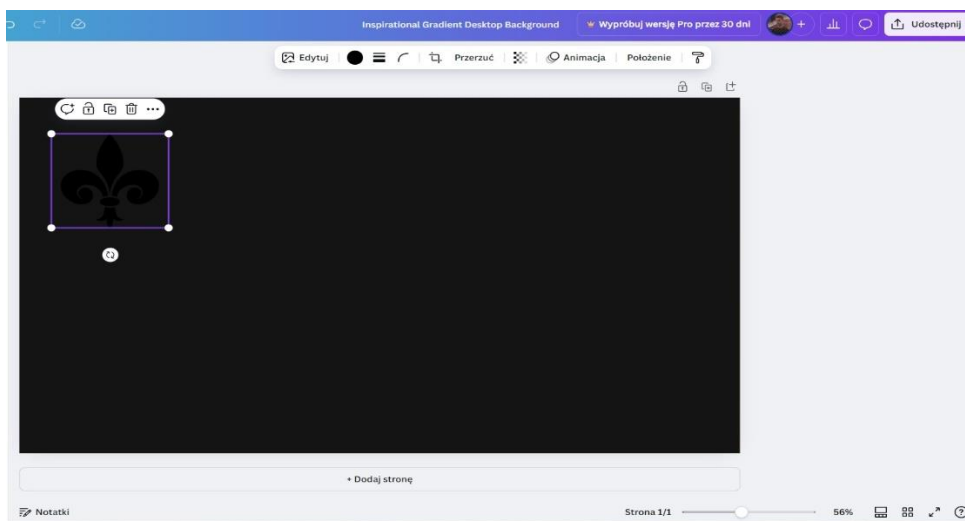

Feedback: I received a feedback that the background doesn't look good with the watermark.

Action: I created my own background using canva.

Starting my own design:

Action: I designed my own background without the watermark on Canva.

Project X Inspiration:

During the prototyping phase, I was looking for inspiration and noticed that many music-related websites use shades of purple. This inspired me to choose a purple color palette for my own website. I also incorporated black to create strong contrast, making buttons and text easier to read and stand out.

Figma link: <https://www.figma.com/design/atkKhxfvHFpRaklrQCJqGt/Untitled?node-id=0-1&t=ooCN6jx1dNP0MgAD-1>

